Previously, we've posted about the importance we put in Etsy's experimentation systems for our decision-making process. In a continuation of that theme, this post will dive deep into an interesting edge case we discovered. We ran an A/B test which required a 5% control variant and 95% treatment variant rather than the typical split of 50% for control and treatment variants.

iPSC quality control. Since the initial generation of iPSCs in 2006, many research groups have created iPSC lines, extending to different cell types and emanating from different patient pools, including from other species, and identifying new TF combinations that increase the efficiency of iPSC production (see [] for a recent review). Further, the most common source of human iPSCs is dermal ...
