Inquiry-based learning (also enquiry-based learning in British English) is a form of active learning that starts by posing questions, problems or scenarios. It contrasts with traditional education, which generally relies on the teacher presenting facts and his or her knowledge about the subject. Inquiry-based Learning is often assisted by a facilitator rather than a lecturer.

I then handed out a second sticky note and asked them to "refine" their passion a bit. Alter it so that it was something they could create an inquiry project on - something they could create a question about and complete research on (we have already completed inquiry projects in science this year, so this concept wasn't new to them).

Curbing bullying at school is a higher priority for educators, policymakers, and parents than ever before. But keeping children safe and promoting healthy relationships at school requires understanding the many dynamics of this complex form of coercive, abusive behaviour. How much do you know about the key facts and stats on bullying among today's youth?
